"Ionian Technomedia: Bringing Innovation to the Academic Web"

Ionian Technomedia is a spin-off company of the Ionian University focusing on designing, implementing and deploying web solutions aimed at fulfilling the needs of the academic community. With a focus on its innovative multi-site web ecosystem architecture, which streamlines collaborative content management and makes interconnectivity a core pillar of academic content dissemination, Ionian Technomedia continues to offer impeccable user experience through an efficient and cost-effective infrastructural approach. With its gaze towards the future, the spin-off is expanding its ecosystem's capabilities through building bridges with core academic information systems, expanding its multilingual support via artificial intelligence and enabling personalized research dissemination through its crowdsourcing-powered personal website platform.

Speaker: Minas Pergantis, Co-founder of Ionian Technomedia, Lecturer and Post-doctoral Researcher of the Department of Audio and Visual Arts of the Ionian University.
